Sinai at SAEM

Mount Sinai EM delivered a strong showing at SAEM in Orlando Florida from May 16 – 19th, 2017. With many residents presenting original research in the form of abstracts to captivating audiences with oral presentations such as Dr. Eric Lee's ('18) oration on the history of our specialty. (Pictured below).

- Maniya, OZ. "AMA Board of Trustees Update: The AHCA and Advocacy." Emergency Medicine Residents Association Board of Directors. 17 May 2017. Orlando, FL.
- L Vanyo, R Sorge, K Shah, R Dhaliwal. Emergency Medicine Residency Wellness Programs: A Survey Of Program Directors' Perspectives. Society for Academic Emergency Medicine. Orlando, FL. May 17th, 2017.
- Sun, Jean E; Alerhand, Stephen; Gupta, Nachi; Shah, Kaushal. A Standardized Signout Note Reinforced by a Simple Trackboard Icon Significantly Improves Verbal Handoff Quality Among Emergency Medicine Providers. Abstract presented at: Society of Academic Emergency Medicine 2017 Annual Meeting; May 19, 2017; Orlando, FL.
- Li KY, Rabin E. Increased Point of Care Urine Testing Times Associated With Longer Emergency Department Disposition Times. Oral presentation at: Society for Academic Emergency Medicine 2017 Annual Meeting; 2017 May 18; Orlando, FL.
- "The History and Future of Emergency Medicine." SAEM IGNITE! Lecture Competition. SAEM17. Orlando, FL. May 17, 2017.

New and Noteworthy

Congratulations to Dr. Neil Dubey ('21) on receiving an ACEP award at his George Washington School of Medicine Award gala.

Our newly elected house-staff council members are Courtney Cassella ('18) and Gregory Fernandez ('19).

Alumnus Dr. Stephen Alerhand ('17) was selected by the SAEM Academy of Emergency Ultrasound for an inaugural resident education award. Bravo!

A big congratulation to our APD and alumnus Dr. Trevor Pour on being awarded the 2017 "Outstanding Pre-Clinical Faculty Award" by the students of the Icahn School of Medicine at Mount Sinai.

Congratulations to Dr. Martin Casey ('20) for winning the American Board of Medical Specialties Research and Education Fund visiting scholars award.

Alumnus and former APD Dr. Suzanne Bentley was selected as the system -wide NYC Health and Hospitals Awardee for their May 9th doctors' day celebration.

Congratulations to Dr. Ryan O'Halloran ('20) on receiving CORD's Salvatore Silvestri, MD Travel Scholarship award.

NEXUS SIM at the S.T.A.R. Center

Nexus Introduction to Emergency Medicine is an elective course offered to junior medical students at the Icahn School of Medicine. It introduces students to the clinical mindset of emergency physicians, provides core knowledge of common ED presentations, and teaches them hands on procedures. This picture was taken during the simulation on the last day of the course. This year the course was led by our own Dr. Jackie Paulis ('18).

A Seat at the Table – of the SAEM Board of Directors

Congratulations to Dr. Jean Sun ('18) on her election to the SAEM Board of Directors. She will serve as Resident member from May of 2017 to May of 2018. She was elected by the resident and student members of SAEM in February of 2017. She is also chair of the IGNITE! Sub-committee for 2017-2018 which is tasked with putting together all IGNITE! sessions at the 2018 SAEM annual meeting.

Patient Safety at Mount Sinai

This past March, the Office of Graduate Medical Education hosted a panel on Resident and Fellow supervision as part of 'National Patient Safety Week'. Our very own Dr. Kathy Li ('19) was a resident member on the panel representing housestaff as well as the department of Emergency Medicine.

MEDTECH Boston 40 Under 40 Healthcare Innovators

Our very own Dr. Omar Maniya, MD, MBA ('21) has been named one of MEDTECH Boston's 40under 40 Healthcare innovators. After being elected as a trustee of the American Medical Association, MEDTECH summed up their reasons for adding him to their list: "Dr. Maniya has had the privilege of representing over 200,000 physicians, residents, and medical students in perhaps the most rapidly changing health care landscape." He was recognized in particular for his contributions to physician-led innovation such as his work on an innovation hub (Health2047), which launched a digital matchmaking website for physicians and entrepreneurs. Congratulations Dr. Maniya!

A bitter defeat followed by a deserving win!

Our annual tradition of Residents vs Attendings sporting events includes faculty from both Mount Sinai as well as faculty from Elmhurst Hospital Center, residents from all classes are eligible to play. Our events were bitter sweet this year. In March, residents lost by a close margin at the Residents vs Attendings basketball game, however the men came back for a noteworthy victory this July at the Residents vs Attendings football game!! Now we can claim our trophy as well as bragging rights. Well done!!

Leadership and Advocacy Day

This April Dr. Elaine Rabin (APD) and Dr. Kathy Li ('19) met with U. S. Rep Carolyn Maloney for Lobby Day at Leadership and Advocacy. They discussed challenges in Emergency Medicine as well as the growth of our specialty and its importance in community health.

AIRWAY: True stories from the ER

We all have stories to tell. Sometimes they are funny, sometimes heartbreaking and sometimes just inappropriate. Others can inspire us and reaffirm our decisions to become doctors. Airway is a showcase for the stories that happen in the ER, stories that enlighten us, expose our vulnerabilities, and quietly suggest ways to overcome the challenges we all face each day. Our very own APD Dr. Arlene Chung (pictured) is part of the awesome group that is behind the airway stories series. Their last event in NYC on March 28th was an amazing night of bold and encouraging stories, from a pathologist who accidentally flushed a resected colon down the toilet to an ER doc working to save the life of a child in a resource-poor country. What a night!

Sinai in Switzerland!

Dr. Emily Taub ('18) who has an interest in Toxicology traveled to Basel Switzerland to present her original research at the 37th International Congress of the European Association of Poisons Centres and Clinical Toxicologists (EAPCCT) from May 16-19. Her abstract [Taub, E., Hoffman R., Manini A. Incidence and risk factors for hyperlactatemia in ED patients with acute Metformin overdose] was well received and she was able to take in the sites around the beautiful city.

Critical Care at its best

A very big and early congratulations to Dr. Clark Owyang ('18) who will be starting a Critical Care fellowship at Stanford University in July of 2018. His main interests include ventilator management and hemodynamics.

Babies at Sinai

A Chairman of a Lifetime

It is with great pleasure that we celebrate the service and dedication of our chair, Dr. Andy Jagoda. On June 20th, he was presented the “Chairman of a Lifetime” award by the Icahn School of Medicine at Mount Sinai Department of Emergency Medicine. This award was in recognition of his outstanding leadership, mentorship, support and education of an entire generation of emergency medicine residents here at Mount Sinai as well as nationally and internationally.

Andy Jagoda, MD, is Professor and Chair in the Department of Emergency Medicine at the Icahn School of Medicine at Mount Sinai. He received his medical degree from Georgetown University in 1982, and completed his Emergency Medicine residency at the Georgetown/George Washington/MIEMMS joint program in 1987. Dr. Jagoda spent a total of 13 years in the Navy serving in Desert Shield / Desert Storm for which he received a Navy Commendation Medal for “meritorious service.”

Dr. Jagoda joined Mount Sinai in 1995 to help build the newly established Academic Department of Emergency Medicine. Over the past 20 years he has been instrumental in helping to make the Department one of the leading programs in the country; the residency is currently ranked #1 in New York by Doximity, and ranked #4 in the country in Emergency Medicine NIH funding. Dr. Jagoda is nationally recognized for his involvement in Emergency Medicine education and for his work in the area of neurologic emergencies. He has co-edited nine books including Mosby’s Neurologic Emergencies which is in its third edition; and Rosen’s textbook of Emergency Medicine which is going into its 9th edition.

He has guest edited 4 issues of the Mount Sinai Journal of Medicine. He is on a number of editorial boards and is the Editor-in-chief of a NLM indexed monthly publication, Emergency Medicine Practice, which has over 100,000 web visits a month. He is the past-Chair of the ACEP Clinical Policies Committee and nationally recognized for the impact he has had on implementing evidence based guideline methodology. Throughout his tenure as Chair, Dr. Jagoda has personally mentored both residents here at Mount Sinai as well as various programs across the country and in Europe and South America. We salute your service to the practice of Emergency Medicine as well as your dedication to emergency medicine residents.
